Message from the Head

Dear Family

Class assembly season has started in earnest and so far we have had 2 great assemblies from 2J and 4H. As always, the children were proud to showcase their learning and talent and it's great to see such a terrific parental turnout. The classes have refreshed the halls and corridors with new displays inspired by authors and the National Year of Reading. Do take a look at their lovely work on ClassDojo. Scholastic Book Fair will be arriving after half term, stationed in the downstairs hall for the week. Books will be on sale each day after school, with prices starting from £1.99. Children can also use their £1 World Book Day tokens, so let's go all in for reading!

Term time holidays will not be authorised!

Unauthorised absence may result in a fixed penalty notice being issued to you.

This year's theme is 'This is My Place', which involves the idea that belonging is central to our wellbeing and mental health. We feel that we belong at home, at school, in communities, participating in special activities, with friends and with the environment. During the week, children will have opportunities to explore this concept. For more information and activities to do at home, click on the link here.

Watch this 'Green' Space!

We are delighted to have secured some funding from the Royal Horticultural Society (RHS) which will go towards improvements to our wildlife garden and green areas in the playgrounds. From next half term, we will be resuming Gardening Club; it will play a key role in maintaining the space, giving pupils' ownership, responsibility, and pride in their environment. Look out for the flyer!
